

GUIDELINES FOR CHEMICAL INSECT CONTROL

Harm van Rees, Cropping Consultant, Bendigo

There are a wide range of insecticides on the market, we did not include all options. The suggested chemical and rate proposed may not be registered. Always refer to the label for registration details. Also refer to the label for the conditions which apply to the use of each chemical, eg. time of application (crop stage), rates, wetters, oils, temperatures, water rates etc. The BCDS do not make recommendations for the use of a product. If you have an insect problem refer to the following chart as a guideline and contact your local chemical representative to get the full detail on a product. Be aware that different chemicals have different hazard ratings to both humans and beneficial insects (eg. bees). Always treat insecticides with due care.
